

Resilience in Food Security in the Global South

SDG Dialogue Forum 3.0

October 11th 2023 | 3:00 pm - 5:00 pm

Federal Ministry for European and International Affairs

(Entrance: Herrengasse 13, 1010 Vienna – 2nd Floor)

Please note that an identity card is required for entering the building.

Elizabeth Nsimadala, a smallholder farmer and President of the Eastern Africa Farmers Federation, and Million Belay, General Coordinator of the Alliance for Food Sovereignty in Africa, will engage in a discussion regarding the fundamental components of resilient nutritional and agricultural systems.

This Discussion is part of the third SDG-Dialogue-Forum 2023 and presents a follow-up to a commitment we have made on the occasion of last year's Dialogue-Forum i.e. to develop recommendations for Austria's Development Cooperation on resilience in food security.

We are looking forward to learning from our guests about challenges and opportunities for food security in Africa and to hearing their views on the role of development cooperation and Europe from a policy coherence perspective (PCSD).

Agenda

14:45	Check-In
15:00	Welcome
15:10	Panel Discussion with Elizabeth Nsimadala and Million Belay: Insights from the Global South
15:55	Presentation Recommendations on Resilience in Food Security
16:05	Panel Discussion with Elizabeth Nsimadala and Million Belay: Perspectives on Development Cooperation
16:35	Q & A
17:00	Networking

Registration

Kindly register here by September 27th.

Participants who have previously registered through the "Save the Date" invitation do not need to register again. Please inform katharina.eggenweber@globaleverantwortung.at if you will not be able to join.

Speakers

Elizabeth Nsimadala

Elizabeth Nsimadala is smallholder farmer, President of the Eastern Africa Farmers Federation (EAFF) the Director in charge of women affairs and past President at the Pan Africa Farmers Organization (PAFO) and Africa representative on the Board of World Farmers Organisation (WFO).

© Private

Million Belay

Million Belay is the founder and coordinator of the Alliance for Food Sovereignty in Africa (AFSA). He is also the founder and director of MELCA-Ethiopia, an indigenous NGO working on agroecology, intergenerational learning, conservation of forests and improving the livelihood of local communities and indigenous peoples.

© Private